Spring Water Symposium: Resilience and Reuse

Event

Sustainable Silicon Valley is holding our Spring Water Symposium: Resilience and Reuse on Monday, May 23rd.

Venue

The state-of-the-art Intuit Cook Campus Center in Mountain View.

Attendees

This exciting event will bring together prominent water technology experts with key government, water agency, and corporate leaders.

Topics

The Symposium will showcase a range of design and technology systems for treating, monitoring, and reusing water for non-potable purposes in commercial and multifamily buildings. Presenters will share successful case studies, highlight the role of the tech campus in water resiliency, and showcase creative programs that have engaged and inspired employee participation, which exponentially increases impact.
